Update on the Newsletter and Website Services

Because of relatively little need, we will no longer publish the newsletter in Spanish. The serving ones in the newsletter are trying to serve in pairs to facilitate a prayerful service and service without interruptions.

The new content teams in English, French and Chinese have been constituted (though other interested saints are welcome to join; please contact Chitu). All three language versions of the website will have the same basic core set of pages. In addition, each language will have additional content depending on the burden, need and capacity of each language group. The translation for the basic pages has been completed in French and Chinese; however, the proofreading is still in progress.

The website will target four groups of people: 1) saints who meet with the church in Montreal; 2) saints in Montreal who do not meet with the church; 3) unbelievers in Montreal; and 4) saints in the recovery outside of Montreal. The content teams will meet with saints in their respective languages to better understand the saints' needs and burdens. Please pray that the Lord might use the website to effectively serve these targeted groups.

II. THE TRESPASS OFFERING IN LEVITICUS 6 (continued)

"Concerning any of the things a man may do to sin thereby"—this refers to transgressions against men in terms of material things. God's children should learn and always remember this lesson—they should not make the possessions of others their own. The possessions of others belong to them. Do not make their possessions yours. Whoever swears falsely in any of the things mentioned above and transgresses against others has sinned.

Brothers and sisters, if there is any dishonesty in anything you do, if you have acquired anything at the expense of others, or if you have acquired anything by means of these six ways, you have sinned. You have to deal with these sins thoroughly.

B. How to Return

Our manner of life has to be righteous, and our conscience must be void of offense before God. God's Word says, "Then it shall be, when he sins and is guilty, that he shall return what he took by robbery" (v. 4). The word return is very important. There are two aspects to the trespass offering. On the one hand, there is the need of propitiation before God. On the other hand, there is the need to "return" to man that which has been taken. Do not think that propitiation before God is sufficient. You must also return to man that which has been taken. If you do not return it, something is lacking. The trespass offering in Leviticus 5 deals with sins that do not involve material transgressions against people. Of course, there is no need to return anything in that case. But the sins spoken of in chapter six involve material loss, in which case one must return something. Propitiation through sacrifice was not enough. One still had to "return" that which was taken. This is why verse 4 says, "Then it shall be, when he sins and is guilty, that he shall return what he took by robbery." Everything acquired through sinful means must be returned. One must return what was taken by robbery, what was gained through extortion, what was deposited with him, whatever has been found, and whatever has been falsely sworn. All of these things must be returned.
